Type of Business:

Since our founding at the United Nations by Jesuit Superior General Pedro Arrupe, S.J., and National Conference of Catholic Bishops General Secretary Joseph Bernardin in 1971, we have looked to the wisdom of faith traditions to locate the center for our concern in the urgent needs for justice in the world, particularly among those least well off. In our work to research, educate, and advocate, we draw upon Catholic social tradition to help translate faith commitments into theological reflection that informs principled action—locally, nationally, and globally.

Our team of leaders advances social justice and human rights through our core competencies:

- Ecology and Development Project,
- Education for Justice Project,
- Global Women's Project, and
- Rethinking Bretton Woods Project.

We touch centers of influence to make a difference in the world.

The Class of 2013: Survey of Ordinands to the Priesthood

BY THE CENTER FOR APPLIED RESEARCH IN THE APOSTOLATE, GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY, WASHINGTON, DC

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This report presents findings from a national survey of ordinands to the priesthood in 2013. To obtain the names and contact information for these ordinands, the Center for Applied Research in the Apostolate (CARA) contacted all theologates and houses of formation in fall 2012 and requested each site to provide names and contact information for every seminarian who was scheduled to be ordained to the priesthood in 2013. CARA also notified the vocation director at all dioceses and archdioceses in the United States about the project and asked for their support in encouraging their potential ordinands to complete the survey. CARA then contacted the ordinands by e-mail, phone, or fax to explain the project and ask them to complete a brief online survey. At the same time, CARA also e-mailed or faxed a similar request to the seminary rector or president at all theologates in its Catholic ministry formation database as well as all major superiors of clerical and mixed religious institutes, asking them to contact their ordinands for CARA and invite them to participate in the online survey.

After repeated follow-ups by telephone, fax, and e-mail, a total of 366 ordinands responded to the survey by March 19, 2013 (two others were being ordained for a diocese outside of the United States and were removed). This represents a response rate of approximately 74 percent of the 497 potential ordinands reported to CARA by theologates, houses of formation, arch/dioceses, and religious institutes. These 366 ordinands include 279 ordinands to the diocesan priesthood, from 119 different dioceses and archdioceses, and 87 ordinands to the religious priesthood.

MAJOR FINDINGS

- The average age of ordinands for the Class of 2013 is 35.5. The median age (midpoint of the distribution) is 32. Three-quarters of responding ordinands are between 23 and 39. This distribution is slightly older than in 2012, but follows the pattern in recent years of average age at ordination in the mid-thirties.
- On average, diocesan ordinands lived in the diocese or eparchy for which they will be ordained for 16 years before entering the seminary. Religious ordinands knew the members of their religious institute an average of nine years before they entered the seminary.

Background and Country of Origin

- Two-thirds of responding ordinands (67 percent) report their primary race or ethnicity as Caucasian/European American/white. Compared to the adult Catholic population of the United States, ordinands are more likely to be of Asian or Pacific Islander background (10 percent of responding ordinands), but less likely to be Hispanic/Latino (15 percent of responding ordinands). Compared to diocesan ordinands, religious ordinands are less likely to report their race or ethnicity as Caucasian/European American/white.
- Three in ten ordinands (31 percent) were born outside the United States, with the largest numbers coming from Mexico, Vietnam, Colombia, Poland, the Philippines, and Nigeria. On average, responding ordinands who were born in another country have lived in the United States for 14 years. Between 20 and 30 percent of ordinands to diocesan priesthood for each of the last ten years were born outside of the United States.
- Most ordinands have been Catholic since birth, although 9 percent became Catholic later in life. Eight in ten report that both of their parents are Catholic and a third (34 percent) have a relative who is a priest or a religious.
- Almost all ordinands in the Class of 2013 (97 percent) have at least one sibling. Around half (52 percent) report having more than two siblings, while one in five (20 percent) have five or more siblings. Ordinands are most likely to be the oldest in their family (40 percent).

Education, Ministry, and Work Experience

- Before entering the seminary, six in ten ordinands completed college (63 percent). Almost one quarter (23 percent) entered the seminary with a graduate degree. Among those who completed college before entering the seminary, five in ten (46 percent) entered the seminary at the pre-theology level and 17 percent entered at the theology level. One in three (29 percent) report entering the seminary while in college.
- The most common fields of study for ordinands before entering the seminary are theology or philosophy (23 percent), business (17 percent), and the liberal arts (16 percent).
- About four in ten responding ordinands (42 percent) attended a Catholic elementary school, which is a rate equal to that for all Catholic adults in the United States. In addition, ordinands are somewhat more likely than other U.S. Catholic adults to have attended a Catholic high school and they are much more likely to have attended a Catholic college (44 percent, compared to 7 percent among U.S. Catholic adults).
- Just over a quarter (26 percent) carried educational debt at the time they entered the seminary, averaging a little over $20,000 in educational debt at entrance to the seminary.
- More than six in ten ordinands (62 percent) report some type of full-time work experience prior to entering the seminary, most often in education or accounting, finance, or insurance. Four percent of responding ordinands report having served in the U.S. Armed Forces. About one in six ordinands (13 percent) report that one or both parents had a military career in the U.S. Armed Forces.
- Ordinands of the Class of 2013 have been active in parish ministries, with two-thirds (67 percent) indicating they served as an altar server and about half (47 percent) participating in a parish youth group. One-fifth (20 percent) participated in a World Youth Day before entering the seminary.
- Nearly seven in ten ordinands report regularly praying the Rosary (68 percent) and participating in Eucharistic Adoration (62 percent) before entering the seminary.

The Class of 2013: Survey of Ordinands to the Priesthood

Vocational Discernment

- On average, responding ordinands report that they were nearly 17 when they first considered a vocation to the priesthood. Two in three (67 percent) say they were encouraged to consider a vocation to the priesthood by a parish priest. Other frequent encouragers include friends (46 percent), parishioners (38 percent), and mothers (34 percent).
- Almost half of responding ordinands (48 percent) indicated that they were discouraged from considering the priesthood by one or more persons. Most often, the person who discouraged them was a friend or classmate or a family member other than their parent.

The Class of 2013: Survey of Ordinands to the Priesthood, a CARA report prepared for the Secretariat of Clergy, Consecrated Life and Vocations of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops, April 2013. Since 1817

FOREWORD

Throughout our long history of publishing, the primary goal of The Official Catholic Directory® has always been to provide a detailed and thorough portrait of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States.

As in years past, we have provided the very useful Archdioceses and Dioceses of the World listings. In this section, with permission granted by the publishers of the Annuario Pontificio, we have an alphabetical list of all the Archdioceses and Dioceses of the World. Listings contain the ordinary of the (arch)diocese, telephone, fax, email and website which are useful in securing sacramental records and facilitating communication.

The second area of Part II is the new and updated (arch)diocesan information not appearing in the main volume.

As with the main volume of The Official Catholic Directory 2013, it is with pleasure that we present The Official Catholic Directory 2013 Part II.

Sincerely,

Robert J. Docherty

Catholic Charities USA is a national network of more than 1,700 local Catholic Charities agencies and institutions that provide help and create hope for more than 10.2 million people a year regardless of their religious, social, or economic backgrounds. For more than 280 years, local Catholic Charities agencies have been providing a wide range of vital services in their communities ranging from day care, adoption, and refugee resettlement to advocacy, counseling, and emergency food and housing. Today, the Catholic Charities network is made up of more than 62,000 staff and 243,000 volunteers. In addition, more than 6,100 individuals serve as volunteer members of local boards. The National Office-Catholic Charities USA was founded in 1910 as the National Conference of Catholic Charities by the Most Rev. Thomas J. Shahan and Rt. Rev. Msgr. William J. Kerby in cooperation with lay leaders of the Society of St. Vincent De Paul. Catholic Charities USA provides its members a national voice, networking opportunities, training and technical assistance, program development, and financial support. Catholic Charities USA has been commissioned by the U.S. Catholic bishops to represent the Catholic community in times of domestic disaster. Catholic Charities USA also provides disaster preparedness training to dioceses and agencies to mitigate the disruption of business and services consequent to natural disasters. Pope Benedict XVI has named Fr. Larry Synder, President of Catholic Charities USA, to the Dicastery of Cor Unum, which oversees the church's charitable activities. Publications: Charities USA, a quarterly membership magazine; an annual report; an annual survey of Catholic Charities services nationwide; and various publications on issues of concern to Catholic Charities agencies.
